Research Proposal

- Three year longitudinal case study of a response to Bradley and National Priorities

- Research student experience of a foundation year for a diverse range of students seeking pathways to further study,

- Research the range and market for preparatory programs for further study in particular disciplines or industry areas,

- Research language literacy and numeracy levels of students and ideas for support at a variety of levels

- Research entry programs for degrees, including teaching the early years of degrees

- Research new diplomas and/or associate degrees that offer graduates the choice of (i) exiting into the workplace with demonstrable skills or, (ii) proceeding to the second year of a bachelor degree with full credit

- Research credit and articulation for the first year, and post-graduate course work qualifications in both VET and HE.
